GOD'S WISDOM FOR OVERCOMING IN THIS END TIME

This world and all her pleasures will pass away. This world is heading for destruction. However, Generational Fruitfulness is the antidote to generational destruction. The destruction reserved for this age bows to Generational Fruitfulness. Many funny things will be happening in the world. If you know that your life or your ways are not right with God, you better amend them. In the book of Esther, Haman was planning destruction for God's people, but it happened that what he was busy preparing, was used on him, his battalion and his ten sons. The devil is the chief generational destroyer. John 10:10 says, the devil primarily comes to steal, destroy and to kill. If you are a child of the devil, you are headed for destruction. Jesus is the only sure path to life.

God has the wisdom for overcoming through every season. In Gen. 26:1,12-14; there was famine in the land and God told Isaac to stay in that land. What is God telling you and where is God telling you to stay? In this season of pandemic, some of us will come out great and wax stronger. I have good news for you; "despite the pandemic, you will not go down in Jesus Name!" Your finance does not depend on the lockdown. Your responsibility is not to go about complaining but to seek God's face for His strategies for the season. While some companies will be laying off staff, we shall be employing more! As darkness is increasing on the people of the world, the Lord shall arise upon us and His Glory shall be seen upon us.

Luke 21:20-21 says, "And when ye shall see Jerusalem compassed with armies, then know that the desolation thereof is nigh. Then let them which are in Judaea flee to the mountains; and let them which are in the midst of it depart out; and let not them that are in the countries enter thereinto."

This Scripture talks about Jerusalem. In this Scripture,

Jerusalem signifies the Church. When you begin to see opposing forces; gay marriage, fornication and the likes in and around the church; know that, the end is near. This is the time to flee to the mountain. Who is on the mountain? God is! When all these things are happening around the church, you will need to focus your attention on God because there's destruction ahead. The Bible says, ESCAPE, to avoid destruction.

- God is calling us as believers to flee to the Mountain;
- God is calling us away from religion to Spiritual and True Worship;
- God is calling us away from church-mindedness to Christ-centeredness;
- God is calling us away from our concentration on our denominations to concentrate on His Kingdom.

Some of the greatest problems of believers today are religion and denominationalism. These forces have crippled the growth of many of God's people for centuries. Many of us are more concerned about the numerical growth of our churches on Sunday than on the increase of souls we can win into God's Kingdom every other day of the week. Many are more concerned about their church than the entire Church and Body of Christ. We often segregate and prefer those of one denomination to another. Listen! We are now in a season where there is no more safety in Jerusalem! God is saying, "Escape to the Mountain; Come up to ME!"

What does it mean to flee to the mountain? It means to come to the place of Spiritual Maturity. In Heb. 6:1, the Bible says, "Therefore leaving the principles of the doctrine of Christ, let us go on unto perfection...." Leave the preliminary doctrines of the church. You are old in the church but you are a baby in the sight of God, that's an error! Matthew 5:48 says, "Be ye therefore perfect, even as your Father which is in heaven is perfect". Who is perfect? God is! Leave all these religious practices and turn your focus and attention on building a growing personal relationship with Christ. Climb the Mountain of Spiritual Maturity. Come up! Climb! You can climb Up to Perfection.

Does this mean church attendance is not necessary? Of course not! Fellowshiping and Spiritual Gatherings remain a requirement for building spiritual strength and nourishment. But most of us have taken church gatherings to be the only necessity, and this has robbed us long enough.

While I am not in support of the lock down, God has been working through it. This lock down has made Christians to read their Bible more. In this lock down, the Kingdom of God has been growing; more and more souls have been won for Christ! The lock down is not to lock down the church. No Pastor should hide or retire because of a lock down. This is the time to ask God, "Lord, what are the strategies during this lock down to advance your Kingdom?" God is calling us into Spiritual Maturity.

Spiritual babies will not be able to survive this end time. If you are not strong, the devil will come and either steal from you, destroy or kill you. If you are not strong, the distress and pressures of this end time can choke you out of the faith. The end time is not for spiritual babies, but for matured Christians. Woe to Pastors and leaders that are keeping spiritual babies and stealing members instead of growing them to be spiritually matured. God is telling us to come to the mountain.

PRAY FOR YOURSELF: "Lord, cause me to grow into maturity; deliver me from spiritual stagnation, help me to grow into spiritual maturity".

The journey of Spiritual Maturity starts with Salvation; accepting Jesus Christ as your Lord and Saviour. Jesus is the Way up the Mountain, the Way to the Father. I admonish you to give your life to God today; please do, because tomorrow may be too late. Repeat after me;

"Father, I return to you today, I have sinned, wash me with the blood. I believe Jesus died for me and rose again for my liberty. I confess Jesus as my Lord and Savior. Thank you Father for accepting me back. I am born again and receive Championship over sin, satan and the world in Jesus Name. Amen!"

Congratulation! God bless you.

Supernatural Restoration

Since we started the Prayer of Open Heavens, I have been soaring in new Spiritual Dimensions. Some months back, my husband called me and gave me a bad news that he had been sacked from work. I consoled him and told him to be patient with God. The next morning, I came to the Champions Court to join other Champions for Prayers of Open Heavens. We prayed and asked God to open up our heavens. I told God to shower His favour upon my husband, and in less than two weeks, his boss called him one morning and requested to see my husband in his office. On meeting his boss, my husband was reinstalled to his former position, and his boss apologised for sacking him, claiming false allegations were written against my husband.

Not up to one week he resumed back at work, I had a dream that I saw my husband crying. In the dream, he told me he had been sacked again. Still in my dream I asked why he was sacked and he said it was because he collected a job from the office without the knowledge of his boss. For me, I saw it as a warning from God to stop affliction from rising a second time. I called my husband in the morning and informed him about the revelation God gave me. I warned him against doing anything against his boss or the company.

When my husband got to the office that morning, someone brought a job for him with the intent to do the transaction without the company's knowledge. My husband rejected it. The man persisted but my husband still refused to play along.

I come to thank God for His great deliverance, revelations, restoration and Open Heavens over my life and my family. Praise the LORD!

Sustaining LOVE in Marriage

In this topic we have three key words:

- Marriage
- Love
- Sustain

Marriage in Biblical context is simply the union between a man and a woman to become husband and wife.

Love is an intense feeling of deep affection with no limit or conditions for a person.

Sustain means to cause to continue for an extended period or without interruption

The first marriage was between the first man called Adam and first woman called Eve. The joining of both of them was done by God Himself in Genesis 2:18-25. Before we go into how to sustain love in marriage, we need to understand the concept of marriage from the above passage.

Marriage is instituted by God for companionship, fellowship, mutual help and comfort with deep affectionate intimate relationship. Marriage belongs to God and not just the man and woman. Marriage should be seen as a trust where God is the major stakeholder. He therefore supports the partners in marriage. God gives divine resources to marriage under Him.

We are accountable to God how we handle our marriage. Having this concept as a mind-set, then sustaining the love in our marriage should be intentional.

How to Sustain Love in our Marriage

1. LOVE GOD

The Bible says "God is love". You cannot give what you don't have. You can only sustain what you possess. If you love God, you will reflect His image and your love for your spouse will not only be sustained but will continue to grow. It is the Agape love that keeps us in marriage even in times of trials.

2. STUDY AND OBEY GOD'S WORD

If God is the Creator of marriage, then He has the written operational manual of how to maintain or sustain the love in it. Love is like a lubricant in the marriage, the manual will direct you where to apply it for the marriage to be heaven on earth. The love language of marriage is embedded in the word of God. "Whatever He says to you, do it" John 2:5

3. SACRIFICE

Sacrifice is giving away something very precious or valuable for another thing to be meaningful. You have to make sacrifices to satisfy your spouse if need be. It may be your time, idea, money, body, ambition, position, career and your right as the case may be. Don't forget that Christ made sacrifice, that is why we can have the joy of salvation. You can also do the same for your marriage to be lovely at all times.

4. GET KNOWLEDGE

Identify the love language of your spouse. Know the love language of your marriage. Love language are those things you will say or do to your spouse that will ignite or spark up the fire of love in him or her and it will make your love for each other to glow the more. Your marriage has its own peculiar love language. For example, romantic words, gifts, sex, helping hands, lovely text messages, nice meal, money, appearance, romantic touch, etc. Do not copy another marriage because you are not having the same "Code". Try and decode what works for your spouse. Also read books, attend seminars and be well informed. Remember, "My people perish for lack of knowledge".

5. COMMUNICATE

Don't just talk but communicate to each other. Communicate to your Lover with your body, emotions, words, etc. Express your joy to your spouse. When you are hurt don't bottle up offenses because it will lead to bitterness. Resolve conflicts, please don't carry it over to the next day. Discuss issues in an atmosphere of love. Apologise to and also accept apologies from your spouse. Even when you are right, apologise; it won't cost you anything. Forgive offences so that your love will blossom.

6. BE COMMITTED

Be committed to your Lover and to your marriage. It works! Give special attention to your spouse, he or she needs it for satisfaction. Always make your spouse to feel important and loved. Don't just have it in your mind but express it to your spouse. Be intimate with each other. Don't have emotional affair with someone else. Pour all your emotions on your spouse because you cannot attract genuine attention from another man or woman. Avoid temptations and appearance of evil.

7. PRAY

In John 2: 1-11, when the wine at the wedding reception finished, Mother Mary went to Jesus on the matter. The answer came and it was a sweeter wine. Love is the wine in our marriage. Prayer is the key for sustaining the love in every marriage. Invite Jesus into your marriage, He will supply you with wisdom and all you need to sustain love in your marriage. If God is involved, He will continue to refresh and renew the love in your marriage.

Conclusion

If you have not surrender your life to Jesus, please do so now. Then invite Him into your marriage, He will give you sweeter Love. Follow these "STEPS" in marriage

- S - Sleep together
- T - Talk together
- E - Eat together
- P - Pray together

GOD DELIVERED Me from Armed Bandits

GOD DELIVERED ME FROM THE SNARE OF THE FOWLERS..... THE ARMED
BANDITS ALSO PLANNED TO KIDNAP AND RAPE
THE GIRLS BUT GOD INTERVENED.

Champ Bitrus

I am a Champion and Partner of Return All Global Ministry; and I served God very closely with our Daddy, Pastor Deji David Olanrewaju, especially during my time in Makurdi, Benue state.

In October 2019, I had to relocate to our Military base in Kebbi. While at Zaria around 7:30pm I heard God's voice 3 times at different locations that we were going to be attacked. I wanted to tell the passengers that we should stop at Zaria and spend the night, but because of the arguments in the bus I decided to keep to myself. So I was just praying.

On reaching Tsafe village in Zamfara state, we encountered Armed bandits with AK47 rifles. They were dressed in military uniforms. At first, we thought they were soldiers but the way they pointed guns at us, I knew they were Fulani armed bandits.

They asked us to come down from the bus. As we were coming down, they were collecting our phones and money and asked us to lie on the ground. To be sincere, this people maltreated other passengers but didn't touch me.

As we were on the ground I saw one of the bandits pull down my bag from the vehicle and wanted to open it. In my bag, I had my military uniforms, my boots and other relevant documents. Immediately, I thought the best thing to do was to run, because if they saw my Military attire, they will do everything to locate me and eliminate any threat. Without hesitating, I jumped up and ran into the bush. It was not funny, they followed me but the Lord made it difficult for them to reach me, and praise God, they didn't fire at me. Just the way God made it difficult for the Egyptians while in the red sea, the bandits withdrew.

I didn't know that I was close to a village already. At around 2am while I was hiding in the bush close to the main road, I saw a man coming towards my direction, As I was trying to move away, I heard a voice in Hausa, "Barawo! Barawo!! Barawo!!!" meaning "thief". I did not know that vigilantes had seen me. They were everywhere. I thought it was the end! Eventually, there was one old man I heard saying "he is not a thief but they were stopped by bandits". When I heard that, I ran towards that man and fell on the ground. The vigilantes came and surrounded me but none of them touched me. I stayed with them till morning. They paid for my transport fare to Gusau town. By this time, our bus had already gone to Sokoto.

Champions, God is faithful! When I got to Sokoto, I discovered that the armed bandits couldn't open my bag. God did not allow them have access to my bag. They didn't carry any of my belongings apart from the small phone and money they collected from me initially.

God delivered me from the snare of the fowlers.

I met the bus in Sokoto and I was told that the passengers were robbed. The armed bandits also planned to kidnap and rape the girls but God intervened. Please help me thank this God. God is so loving. Hallelujah.

EXPRESSING LOVE IN RELATIONSHIP WITHOUT GETTING INTO SIN

I started getting into relationships roughly, and at a very early age. Part of why this happened was because I felt I was not enough. I did not personally know my value. I didn't even know what having value is. I was young, just finished from an only girls school and thought I needed a boyfriend to make my life more spicy or fun. There was this very fine guy that used to come play video games around the place where I was working as a secondary school leaver. I can't remember how he asked me out right now but we started 'dating'.

That was the beginning of trouble; and I want you to get something from this. If you are yet to discover who you are as a person - an individual, you have no business thinking about a relationship, not to talk of asking God for a wife/husband.

Secondly, If you are yet to ask God or hear God (through His Word) tell you why He created you and what He created you for, abeg no go near relationship (which means there's no part for you yet in having a purposeful relationship as intended by the making of our divine nature).

The reason the issue of identity recognition is key, is because, until you know who you are, you will respond and attract any single rubbish. You will see rag and you will call it riches. You will see riches and you will call it destiny. You will see destiny but you will run from it because you can't even recognise it. An idea and picture of who you are puts a cap to what extent by which you can go in the Spirit and when you are faced with trials, troubles and temptation.

You MUST also know the identity of your intended partner. You may not fully comprehend it, but at least be knowledgeable about their life in God.

Being sure of who you are is not enough to proceed into any kind of relationship. I personally do these for people who come into my life. You must know who the other person is. You must ask them about themselves. Listen to their conversations with you and others, you must be able to discern their daily processes and dissect who they are and if their personality fits into the picture God has given you. Ask the other person what God has told them about themselves. Take note of it. And then go to God who created them and ask God, "Who is this person?" I asked God about my husband when he showed up. I didn't just say, "God, is he the one?" I asked God what His destiny was, because I don't have time to waste or even space in my heart for heartbreak. It's too costly. So to itemise the three basic significant order identity tests again;

1. Ask the person to tell you who they are and who they see themselves to be
2. Ask the person to tell you who God told them they are and possibly show you where they documented it
3. Ask God about His purpose and plans for the person as an individual.

SIN IS A PROCESS

Please get this - Sin is not always spontaneous. There is always a process that projects and produces sin. People don't just do things. People don't just lie. People don't just kiss. People don't just smooch. People don't just have sex. It is all a process. One thing leading to another. Beginning with a thought, or a suggestion, or a wrong statement, or being in the wrong environment. No one just falls into sin. And with love relationships, it can be more strenuous emotionally because all your emotions are shouting on your head that even the next person sitting close to you can almost tell.

So, how can your relationship survive this emotional and sexual strain.

1. Be open about your position on sexual or emotional sin. Don't assume that the other person knows you are a spirikoko. Open your mouth to say you no go do (that is, you are not interested). Someone once said assumption is the lowest form of knowledge so don't assume that the other person will know. Save yourself the heartache and have an open and honest conversation.

2. Limit your conversations about emotional sin. Something about our minds and thought patterns is that the more you speak about something, the more the tendency is for you to do that thing. So as much as you can, limit your conversations around doing 'future things' together. There'll be times to talk about it but it can't be most of the time.

3. Avoid being in environments that makes it easy for sin to occur. Whether it is you telling a lie or you falling into your significant other's arms for succor, just make sure that you purposely are not found in places that suggest sin can thrive

4. Very importantly, have an accountability friend, coach or mentor that you can share your struggles with. Most of the time, when we are under these kinds of teachings, we make really strong resolutions but when the hook comes to shove, we find it hard to implement what has been heard. This is where the place of accountability comes in. Get someone with whom you could discuss these things on a consistent basis so they can help you handle the pressure right.

5. Watch what you watch. I always say that your eye and ear gates are very important for you to control cause whatever you consume can become your reality. So, be careful to have a selective diet of audio-visual content.

6. FLEE EVERY APPEARANCE OF EVIL. There are some times that you may not be able to execute any of the things mentioned depending on the situation. PLEASE RUN when you see that it's like sin wants to happen. Don't try to test your strength. Don't let the devil borrow you for 1 minute. RUN AWAY.

The Bible says there is no temptation that we will be faced with except ones that we can bear and even those ones, there is always a prepared way of escape. Don't stand for counselling when you are meant to run.

There is also another level of sin you must watch out for. It is the sin of disobedience. Ask God about the secret to the success of that relationship. Know your consecrations. Decode the guiding principles for your relationship to thrive. Your consecrations may not generally be a known sin. It might be something that is common and generally acceptable but if you do it, it becomes sin to God.

God is a good father. He is faithful and always wants the best for us His children. Sin is not from him. Wrong choices are what produce a fruit of sin in us. God does not test us with sin. So, the next time you are thinking that the struggle is too much, ask God to engraft you but also run away from the sin that stares at you.

To your best life in marriage,
Cheers.

2020 TARGET

Our first Ministry Book, "Preparing to Succeed in the Higher Institution" (PSHI) was first published in 2012. We presently have over 25,000 copies of PSHI circulating Campuses, Churches and Secondary Schools in and around Nigeria.

Yearly, we commit to reproduce copies of PSHI and other Ministry resources. We also publish new titles to empower young people for the Life of Championship, overcoming all battles confronting them. Some of these materials are sent to Schools, Churches and Institutions in core Northern regions so that the Gospel of Christ will reach those in the interiors. We have recorded tonnes of outstanding testimonies from various locations. Too many testimonies to feature. Jesus alone be praised.

In 2020, we plan to print and distribute at least 10,000 copies of these books. Your support would go a long way in helping us Win Souls and Raise Champions for Christ.
